Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 27 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A change to more unsettled weather is expected this week.

Today:
Some very wet and windy conditions, with outbreaks of locally heavy rain, will clear away east during Monday morning, with sunny spells and scatted blustery showers by afternoon. Feeling much fresher than of late. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
A breezy night with further showers at times. These mainly affecting the Pennines. The best of the clear spells for eastern coastal areas. Feeling chilly. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tuesday:
Bright start then clouding over with showers or longer spells of rain on Tuesday. A breezy day and continuing to feel much cooler than of late. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Windy and bright on Wednesday with early rain clearing east. Further rain and showers spreading eastwards Thursday and Friday with some brightness at times. Temperatures near or slightly below average.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.